

PATIENT WARNING REGARDING SUPPLEMENTS

In extremely rare cases, patients may experience side effects from the nutritional supplements that we recommend in our office. A few examples are: loose stools, diarrhea, slight nausea, dark urine and abdominal bloating. Side effects are extremely rare, but have been reported. If this possibility concerns you, please ask Dr. DeFino about that possible risks involved in taking supplements. If you experience any of these or any side effect that you feel may be a result of the use of the nutritional supplements that we have recommended, please discontinue its use and call our office immediately.
